

University of Pittsburgh

Global Studies Center
University Center for International Studies

Carnegie Mellon University

Micro-Course:

TRANSFORMING CITIES: CITIES & SOCIAL JUSTICE

COURSE NUMBERS:

99-380 / 99-780

94-852 (Heinz)

3 Units

This course will view cities as hubs where patterns, connections, discussions, and the processes shape such issues as social justice, economic development, technology, migration, the environment among others. By examining cities as a lens, this sequence of weekend courses encourages students to examine cities as a system for discussing social processes being built and rebuilt. This iteration of the course will explore such topics as: the rapid growth of cities and their impact on fair housing, gentrification, and poverty; the role of human rights cities as models; the role of migration on cities; the role of governance addressing inequality; the need to have access to health care; among others.

OCTOBER 22-24, 2021

Engagement in the course should be synchronous; accommodations for those in significant time zone differences will be provided to allow enrollment and completion of all elements of the weekend.*

Questions? Email Korryn Mozisek, Director of Integrative Learning, Office of the Vice Provost for Education.